HOMES

Orbit Homes plans a £40million regeneration project for this site, which has stood redundant since the Cattle Market closed in 2001.

Orbit Homes has exciting plans to redevelop the former Cattle Market site in the heart of Stratford-upon-Avon, providing over 200 much needed new homes for local people.

The regeneration project plan includes:

- around 200 homes and apartments for sale, shared ownership and affordable rent
- independent living with care housing, including facilities such as a restaurant, cafe, and health and beauty care
- landscaping a key 'gateway' site to the town
- investment in local infrastructure.

The redevelopment of the Cattle Market is happening alongside proposals from Warwickshire County Council and London Midland to redevelop Stratford-upon-Avon rail station, which neighbours the Arden Quarter site.

Our investment in this new high-quality housing development will bring long-term financial, environmental and social benefits to the area. Working with our partners and stakeholders, Orbit Homes will transform the Cattle Market into a prosperous and vibrant place where people want to live. By offering a range of homeownership and rental models, the development will help meet local people's needs and aspirations at different points in their lives and provide an inclusive community.
